

Basel 12 Zurich 34

Match Report by injured player Angus who unfortunately had to dictate the report as he broke his hand sharpening a pencil.

I didnae make the first 20 minutes as I was stuck in Basel trying tae score some tickets fae the Champions League semi-final wi Milan. The little runt of a tout tried tae stitch me up fae another 200 francs. Wan Glasgow kiss later and the tickets were mine at a discoont and the only stitching being done was at the local Infirmary.

Luckily, Zurich had decided tae play sh*te and the score was still 0-0 when I arrived. Zurich scored a well worked set piece try wi nice interplay from Callegghan and Höchli fae Callegghan tae race away and score. Ramiro scored another and try wh*re Unholz scored wan tae bring his combined try yardage this season tae wan. Normal service resumed with Jesse Nicholas failing tae convert any.

Gary's girlfriend with her second favourite instrument

It has tae be noted that Gary O'Graf made one searing 60 meter break from his converted flanker position. Moving the dynamic player from centre tae flank was a masterstroke from coach Murphy, whose youthful good looks belie the great rugby wisdom lurking beneath¹. Zurich then went tae sleep and Basel scored a well deserved try just befaee the break.

Half time

Basel 7 Zurich 15

Zurich failed tae awake from their slumber allowing Basel tae score 10 minutes intae the half bringing the score tae within 3 points. This awoke the aging, slightly overweight giant that is the Zurich pack and Tati rumbled over from a rolling maul.

At this point, Gary's girlfriend came over and made all sorts of advances tae the author making it hard tae concentrate on the game. She said even though she didnae understand a word I say that she still wanted tae s*%& and l*%& my c*%& and O'Graf would never find out. I thanked her fae her kind offer and made my excuses and left².

Please fell free tae fill out the blanks below tae complete the match report as I am off tae Milan and cannae be bothered.

..... scored an excellent team try while scored a fantastic individual effort.

Summary

Zurich put in less effort than me dictating this match report but still managed a bonus point.

Points

3 points - Nick Lawry - broke the line consistently, strong in attack + defence, needs tae work on his English though.

2 points - Nevar - new kid on the block, 2 assists, looking at a late surge for the points trophy

1 point - Gregoire - congrats on the election of your new president

Jaffa - Gregoire - congrats on the election of your new president

¹ The sucking up to the captain and coach in the preceding 2 sentences and the fact that the author will be returning from injury around play-off time and looking for a place in the squad are purely coincidental.

² The sucking up to the captain by not taking advantage of his girlfriend (who's photo is real and not the fourth photo available when typing "Gary's girlfriend" in Google) and the fact that the author will be returning from injury around play-off time and looking for a place in the squad is also purely coincidental.
